About Us

Our approach to providing the highest quality maintenance services is very simple – it's all about trust, competence and integrity. It's what you get with Juggle Group every time. It has guided our principles from day one and it is why we're chosen time and time again for a huge range of companies, large and small, for thousands of their properties across Ireland.

With over five decades in combined experience, Juggle Group has grown into a trusted Irish-based property maintenance company that offers a higher standard of service with excellence in the detail.

From the moment an enquiry is placed, we provide a hassle-free service from talking things through to define your needs, to timely execution and follow up. Thanks to this, we're known by businesses with single and multiple locations for delivering quality workmanship, on budget and with minimal disruption to businesses' day to day operations.

It's the simple things that make the difference: site visits at short notice, turning up when promised, expert workmanship, tidying up after ourselves, competitive prices. In short, doing the job right; it's what our customers expect – and it's what we do best.

Project Works

At Juggle Group Ltd, we excel in handling projects and fit outs of varying scales, both large and small, overseeing the entire process from inception to completion.

Project Works & Fit Outs

Project Planning:

Developing detailed plans outlining the scope, objectives, timeline, resources, and budget for a project.

Project Management:

Overseeing the execution of the project, including coordinating resources, managing schedules, and resolving issues that arise during the project lifecycle.

Construction and Engineering:

Undertaking construction projects such as building infrastructure. This includes civil engineering, architectural design, and construction management.

Overall, we play a crucial role in helping organizations plan, execute, and complete projects efficiently and effectively, often bringing together multidisciplinary teams with specialized expertise to deliver successful outcomes.
